

WELL-BEING STATEMENT

The Well-being of Future Generations (Wales) Act 2015 is about improving the economic, social, cultural and environmental well-being of Wales. For the first time in law public bodies must work to achieve a shared vision, expressed in the Act as the seven national well-being goals, which are:

A prosperous Wales	A resilient Wales	A healthier Wales	A more equal Wales	A Wales of cohesive communities	A Wales of vibrant culture and thriving Welsh language	A globally responsible Wales
---------------------------	--------------------------	--------------------------	---------------------------	--	---	-------------------------------------

Public bodies subject to the Act have a legal duty to adopt the sustainable development principle when setting well-being objectives and in taking steps to achieve those objectives. In the Act the sustainable development principle is represented by the five ways of working, which are:

Long term

Prevention

Integration

Collaboration

Involvement

One Council
Working Together to Improve Lives

This document sets out Bridgend County Borough Council's well-being objectives and describes how they will help us to achieve the seven well-being goals for Wales. It should be read alongside our corporate plan 2018-2023, updated for 2021-22 which sets out our well-being objectives and establishes the rationale and the steps we will take to achieve them. In our well-being statement we set out the scope of each well-being objective, what we aim to achieve and why they are important. Underpinning our well-being objectives, is our vision of one council working together to improve lives.

Each public body subject to the Well-being of Future Generations (Wales) Act 2015 has a statutory duty to set well-being objectives and to review them annually to ensure they remain fit for purpose. The annual review is also an opportunity to further examine how we are applying the sustainable development principle and make changes accordingly.

The purpose of this document is to:

- explain how we set our well-being objectives
- set out how our well-being objectives in our corporate plan contribute to the seven well-being goals for Wales
- demonstrate how the principles which underpin the way we work are linked to the sustainable development principle (5 ways of working)
- set out the steps we propose to take to achieve our well-being objectives
- explain how we propose to govern ourselves to meet our objectives

This well-being statement is published under section 7 and 8 of the Well-being of Future Generations (Wales) Act 2015

SETTING OUR WELL-BEING OBJECTIVES

In order to set our well-being objectives we consulted with residents in late 2015 as part of the Budget Consultation process. Respondents to the exercise were asked to identify to what extent they agreed or disagreed that the Council should focus on three objectives. These were:

- * Supporting a successful economy
- * Helping people to be more self-reliant
- * Smarter use of resources

The results of the consultation showed strong agreement with the chosen well-being objectives. Supporting a successful economy and smarter use of resources were the most supported objectives, with 86 per cent of respondents selecting agree or strongly agree as responses. Helping people to be more self-reliant was the least supported objective however, still received agreement from four in five respondents (80%). A similar survey was also undertaken with employees and results mirrored those from members of the public with each objective receiving over 80% agreement. These objectives became the Council's new well-being objectives following approval at Council in March 2016. These well-being objectives have been reviewed annually in line with the Well-being of Future Generations (Wales) Act 2015. Our revised well-being objectives from 2020-21 onwards are:

Each well-being objective is supported by clearly defined priority areas to ensure we can make the biggest difference to the lives of the people across the County Borough now and in the future.

OUR CONTRIBUTION TO THE WELL-BEING GOALS BY WELL-BEING OBJECTIVE

The Well-being of Future Generations (Wales) Act 2015 is about improving the economic, social, cultural and environmental well-being of Wales. For the first time in law public bodies must work to achieve a shared vision, expressed in the Act as the seven national well-being goals. Our well-being objectives contribute significantly to the achievement of the national well-being goals. Our revised well-being objectives relate to different aspects of life's course whilst directing resources to shared outcomes, addressing well-being in a systematic way with commitments to help accelerate the pace of progress.

Table 1 below sets out how each of our well-being objectives contributes to the 7 national well-being goals.

OUR PRINCIPLES AND THE 5 WAYS OF WORKING

In addition to the seven well-being goals, the Well-being of Future Generations (Wales) Act 2015 puts in place the sustainable development principle, and defines the five ways of working that public bodies must adopt to demonstrate they have applied the sustainable development principle. We have embedded the five ways of working into our organisational principles which were set as part of our 2016-20 corporate plan and carried forward into our current 2018-2023 corporate plan. These principles underpin the way we work and are set out below:

<h2 style="text-align: center;">5 Ways of Working</h2>	<h3>Long term</h3> The importance of balancing short-term needs with the needs to safeguard the ability to also meet long-term needs	<h3>Prevention</h3> How acting to prevent problems occurring or getting worse may help public bodies meet their objectives	<h3>Integration</h3> Considering how the public body's well-being objectives may impact upon each of the well-being goals, on their objectives or on the objectives of other public bodies	<h3>Collaboration</h3> Acting with any other person (or different parts of the body itself) that could help the body to meet its well-being objectives	<h3>Involvement</h3> The importance of involving people with an interest in achieving the well-being goals, and ensuring those people reflect the diversity of the area which the body serves
To support communities and people to create their own solutions and reduce dependency on the Council.
To focus diminishing resources on communities and individuals with the greatest need.
To use good information from service users and communities to inform its decisions.
To encourage and develop capacity amongst the third sector to identify and respond to local needs.
To not let uncertainty over the future of public services prevent meaningful and pragmatic collaboration with other public sector bodies.
To work as one Council and discourage different parts of the organisation from developing multiple processes or unnecessarily different approaches.
To transform the organisation and many of its services to deliver financial budget reductions as well as improvements.

ACHIEVING OUR WELL-BEING OBJECTIVES

Our well-being objectives set out what we are looking to achieve (the aims), the priority areas (to target resources) and the steps (commitments) we will take to achieve them. The steps we take to achieve the well-being objective will look to ensure that long term, preventative, integrated, collaborative and involvement approaches are fully embraced. It cannot include every element of our work, but aims to illustrate the breadth of our efforts and our contribution to the seven national well-being goals. Delivery of our well-being objectives is supported by the Medium Term Financial strategy and directorate business plans.

All of these objectives are equally important, often interlinked, and not listed in any priority order. Whilst we annually review our well-being objectives, aims and priority areas to see if they need some minor amendments, we update our steps (commitments) annually to demonstrate next progress steps that will be taken. For the purposes of this document the steps and also our measures of success are not shown below but can be seen in the latest version of the Council's corporate plan.

Our well-being objectives, aims and priority areas are:

GOVERNING AND MONITORING PERFORMANCE

We take a systematic approach to performance management, following the industry-recognised 'plan-do-review-revise' cycle. Set out below is the cycle that we undertake to ensure effective performance management. The Council's performance management framework sets out the framework in more detail and can be found here BCBC Performance Management Framework 2017 Version \(bridgend.gov.uk\)

In line with the Performance Management Framework to ensure we are making sufficient progress in achieving our well-being objectives, we monitor the progress of our commitments through the Corporate Performance Assessment process (CPA) and Scrutiny process and measure the rate of improvement using a suite of 'success measures'. The CPA also provides an opportunity for senior leaders to identify opportunities for collaboration and integration across service areas or with partners to maximise our contribution to achieving our well-being objectives. In addition we produce an Annual Report to report progress on our well-being objectives and review and revise them annually if required.

	Meeting	Purpose	Attendees
Q1	CPA	To challenge target setting and performance at Q1, compared with year end performance	Chief Executive, Corporate Director of Service, Head of Service for the Directorate, Portfolio Cabinet Member, Challenge Corporate Director, Challenge Cabinet Member
